1925 RUNNER-UP

Lawyer Will Qualify for G. O. P. Race in August.

Attorney Harry Brokaw, runner-up for judge of the municipal court four years ago, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for that office at the August 13 primaries.

Brokaw, whose friends nominated him for the office in 1925 by writing his name on the ballot, was defeated at the general election by J. C. Hanley by 24 votes.

Brokaw, who has been practicing law for 23 years, 19 of which have been spent in East Liverpool, was born in Morgan county, Ohio, in 1877. He graduated from Marietta college in 1903 and from the Cincinnati Law school in 1906. He practiced in Martins Ferry for three and one-half years before coming to East Liverpool on May 2, 1910, where he formed a partnership with his brother, G. L. Brokaw.

He served as a member of the Columbiana County Liquor License board for four years before Ohio adopted prohibition. He was city solicitor during 1924 and 1925. He is now a member of the Carnegie Library.

By George E. Durno.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Harry F. Sinclair, who used to jerk soda in a Kansas drugstore before he became the head of a $500,000,000 oil concern, went to work today in the District of Columbia jail amid surroundings that must have given him a reminiscent moment.

The portly multi-millionaire oil magnate was assigned to work in the drug and medicine department of the big brick jailhouse.

Registered pharmacist.
Major Peak, the jail superintendent, has been scratching his head for days over what he was going to do with his famous prisoner in the way of assigning him a job. It isn't every day he has a multi-millionaire among his "guests."

In giving the details of his life's history to the major for the permanent records, Sinclair disclosed that he was a registered pharmacist, with a degree from the University of Kansas.

"Fine," said the major, much relieved. "You report to the drug room for duty."

"Okay," said Sinclair. His duties in the drug room won't be onerous. In the first place, there aren't many drugs. The shelves and cabinets are sparsely filled with things that usually are found in the ordinary family medicine closet, iodine, first-aid equipment, and a goodly supply of what the army used to know as "C. C." pills, etc.

Will Act as Doctor's Intern.
The oil magnate is the first registered pharmacist ever incarcerated in the jail, according to the records. Dr. Morris Hyman, the jail physician, was overjoyed to get an assistant.

Col. Lindbergh will probably write a check for $1,500 to Phil Love, a friend and fellow aviator, immediately after his marriage to Anne Morrow. It looks as if Love will collect on his love wager, unless he goes and falls himself.

Tariff Bill, Boosting Rates, Goes to House

Republican Measure, Revising Upward Fordney-McCumber Act, is Introduced by Oregon Member.

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—A new tariff bill revising upward the Fordney-McCumber act of 1922 for the purpose of protecting American industry and agriculture from competition of a reviving world industry, was introduced in the house today by Representative Willis C. Hawley (R.) of Oregon, chairman of the ways and means committee.

The bill carries the highest protective tariff rates ever proposed in the American congress, but at the same time, its sponsors declared, fully meets President Hoover's injunction to limit tariff readjustment to emergency conditions and new industries.

Approximately 20 per cent of the thousands of rates in the Fordney-McCumber act were changed in the bill.

The measure was presented as a Republican program, having been written exclusively by the Republican members of the ways and means committee.

The committee adopted a compromise in the bitter fight over the sugar schedule. The tariff on world sugar was raised from 2.50 to 3 cents a pound, and on Cuba sugar from 1.74 to 2.4 cents a pound. Philippine sugar continues to come in free.

The molasses schedule classification was changed, the purpose being to increase the rate of edible molasses from 25 cents a gallon to 3.3 cents a gallon to protect sugar cane users, and to afford greater protection on black strap molasses, for which farm organization fought.

NEW YORK, May 7.—(INS)—What makes a husband incompatible? According to Mrs. Myron I. Morris who is suing her dentist spouse for separation the following little tricks, quoted from her diary, are enough:

He switched off the telephone every time she tried to use it; he turned off the lights in her bedroom so that she couldn't see to dress; he shut off the water in the bathroom; he refused to permit a maid to make her bed, and, last but not least, he made her sneeze by sprinkling a strange powder into her rouge.

Hundreds of People in East Liverpool Are Poisoning Themselves Every Day and Suffering All the Time

WORLD'S TONIC MAN SAYS YOU CAN PICK THEM OUT ON THE STREET BY THEIR LOOKS

"Yes," said the World's Tonic representative, "I mean what I say when I repeat that a lot of people in this town would be better off if they took a quick poison, instead of poisoning themselves to be poisoned every day. You can see them on the street, drinking themselves along in misery, some of them brave about it, but some clear down in despair.

"The pity of it is that their suffering is unnecessary. Stomachs that are too weak to retain their food, eyes that show how they need sleep, weary steps that tell the story—all of these are evidences of slow starvation poisoning—not so slow in many cases either. These victims have let catarrh run on until the body is full of waste products, and the blood is so foul that the poisons are not thrown off.

"Stomach, liver, kidneys—something gives way, and in distress all the time. I'm sorry for these folks, for I have seen thousands in that condition who were speedily restored by this good-working medicine. They have come in different stages of catarrhal poisoning, and after they had taken one or two bottles of World's Tonic I hardly knew them when they came back, they were so much better.

"If the people of East Liverpool who have catarrh had seen what I have seen they would waste no time in visiting the druggist and taking World's Tonic. World's Tonic is for sale by Carnahan's, also C. M. Brannan's at Wellsboro and all other good drug stores.—Adv. (A-54).

SIoux INDIAN WOMEN VISIT DOWNTOWN ZONE

James Pulliam, Educated Member of Tribe, in Charge.

101 RANCH UNIT

Some of Group Met Calvin Coolidge in South Dakota.

An interesting sequel to the visit of Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch in East End was noted last night, when Clarence West, Sixth street, escorted 12 Sioux Indian women, ranging in ages from 38 to 65, into a downtown restaurant for lunch.

The contingent was under the immediate charge of an educated Indian, James Pulliam, who, we note, it not for his costume under the American overcoat which he wore, could not be distinguished from a member of the Caucasian race. Pulliam confided that he has a brother now attending Carlisle college in Pennsylvania. He himself was educated on the reservations of South Dakota where, as members of the Sioux tribe, they all live during the winter season.

Some of the Indians, now with the show for the first time, were a part of the Indian delegation which two years ago visited President Calvin Coolidge at his summer home in the South Dakota hills.

Pour Coffee into Glasses. Enveloped in their blankets and silently entering in their moccasins, but smiling broadly, the Indian women attracted great attention as they, in some instances, drank water from their glasses and then poured their coffee into them before drinking it. "They eat meat almost altogether," Pulliam declared. "They like beef better than any other kind. Beef is furnished them on the reservation when they are home. All of them can understand English, but they speak very little."

He said that the oldest of the women bore the name "Nose" when her Indian name was translated. Others had the names "Return From The Scout," "Charging," "Little Hawk," and "Blue Horse."

Pulliam said that the Indians often talk about "Rain In The Face," the Sioux chief, reputed to have fatally shot Gen. Custer at the Battle of Big Horn.

He was interested when told that East Liverpool was but a short distance from the birthplace of Gen. Custer, and the community from which he had entered the army.

Call Coolidge "Little Father."

To them former President Coolidge was the "Little Father." Their reservation was but 65 miles from the spot in which he spent the summer in 1927.

"These Indian women are enjoying their trip about the country," he said. "They work in the rain when their act is put on. They are seldom ill save for occasional colds."

He said that the show winters in Marlin, S. D., and that it had opened in Kansas City, Mo., where it had spent several weeks in March. "We are encountering our worst weather just now," he declared.

The party came downtown in a street car. When they had concluded they were escorted by West to a bus in which they traveled the river road to their sleeping car in which they awakened in New Castle, Pa., today.

"I didn't realize what a wonderful medicine Konjola was until I tried it," said Mr. John F. Peckens, Route No. 4, Ashtabula.

"Konjola certainly surprised me. I was troubled by a weak stomach. My food did not digest. Gas formed, and at times there were severe pains. I also suffered from kidney troubles, and there was constant pain in the small of my back. Finally rheumatism took hold, and I suffered terribly."

"A friend insisted that I try Konjola. To my surprise, my troubles began to leave me right from the start. The stomach troubles have disappeared, my kidneys act as they should, and the rheumatism has left me. My entire system has been cleansed of all poisons and impurities. I will never miss an opportunity to praise Konjola."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns through out this entire section.—Adv.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

No "Whispering Campaign"

can withstand the light of this truth: Lucky Strikes are made from the finest of fine tobaccos—the cream of the crop. Lucky Strikes alone are toasted because toasting is a secret process. 20,679 physicians definitely state that toasting removes impurities. Then, too, it adds to the flavor and prevents throat irritation. Therefore, without fear of contradiction, we can say truthfully:

"No cigarette, regardless of price, is as good as Luckies whether manufactured by The American Tobacco Company or by any other company."

No bottom in this oven!

WE MEAN IT—there's no bottom in the oven of a Direct Action Red Wheel Gas Range to warp or rust out or burn out. This gives the following remarkable advantages that elicit words of praise and thankfulness from every user:

1. No pre-heating of the oven is necessary. You get a hot oven almost instantly after burners are lighted.
2. Dishes that run over, such as juicy pies and puddings, flow into the "clean-out" pan below the heat of the oven burners. Hence, they do not burn or cause a smudge in the kitchen.
3. A saving of gas—meaning economy in gas bills.
4. The oven bottom rack is flush with the open oven door, forming a continuous shelf so that even the heaviest roasts can be slid in and out of the oven easily—without lifting.

In addition, Direct Action Gas Ranges are each equipped with the Lorain Red Wheel Self-regulating Oven which automatically maintains the correct oven temperature while you are away from the kitchen. See these unusual features at our store.

THE CABINET IS ALL-STEEL

ALL THE MECHANISM IS ON TOP

OF the many advantages of General Electric Refrigerators, two are especially vital—the hermetically sealed, on-top mechanism and the all-steel warp-proof cabinet.

The mechanism in any electric refrigerator has but one purpose—to absorb heat from the food. It must be permitted to radiate that heat rapidly just as heat is conducted away from the engine of your car. As heat naturally rises, it can be radiated from the top of the refrigerator. To place the radiating coils anywhere else cuts down their efficiency and increases the cost of operation.

And now has been added the new all-steel cabinet. Built like a safe, it can't warp—it operates on the least amount of current—its doors always retain their perfect fit which shuts out heat. Available in six sizes at prices surprisingly low. The small family size is but $215, at the factory. Sold on convenient time payments.

Hit-Run Auto Fatality

Police today are cooperating with Sheriff William J. Barlow in the search for the first hit-and-run automobile driver case which has been reported in Columbiana county this year, as aftermath of the death of an 8-year-old boy on the Cannons Mill bridge, a part of the new East Liverpool-Youngstown highway.

The victim of the accident, run down while playing in the highway, died from a fractured skull after his removal to the City hospital in an automobile of a visiting clergyman, who, emulating the Good Samaritan, stopped his car and took the injured boy aboard as the man responsible for the crash fled.

Apparently the driver of the death car hoped to escape police investigation of the crash, for after stopping to ascertain the extent of the injuries suffered by his victim, who, in the meantime, had been picked up and placed in the second automobile, he raced away.

It is cowardly on the part of a motorist to attempt to avoid identification after a pedestrian or another motorist has been injured or killed in an accident, although the crash may have been unavoidable. Seemingly, there was no way of averting the Cannons Mill fatality, although the motorist cast suspicion upon himself by his flight.

Despicableness of the hit-and-run automobile operator recently prompted the Ohio legislature to increase the penalty for the offense. Motorists who are convicted of failure to observe the Golden Rule in accidents should be dealt with severely.

Bird Protection

Congress has appropriated $7,500,000 to establish refuges for migratory game birds. The passage of the bill naming this sum for their protection fulfills the obligations of the United States to Canada which has objected strenuously to the depletion of their migratory bird life. Some Americans taking advantage of the migration seasons, worked severe ravages.

The bill does not provide any aid for insectivorous birds which are of infinite importance to the farmer. These birds, naturally, will take advantage of the game refuges which will be in locations agreeable to them, but they will not be protected.

Discussion of the bill brings memories of the extinction of the buffalo. A land, once populated with great herds of the picturesque animal peculiar to the American plains, now is vainly struggling to raise enough buffalo to eliminate the prospect of complete extinction. It may not be too late, but at best it seems like a very foolish procedure to shoot all the game and then spend thousands of dollars trying to raise more.

Perhaps it is justifiable to nourish the ardor of the hunter to that extent. There is no doubt a thrill in shooting birds and animals which can be gained in no other way, but is it wisdom to grant license for a wholesale slaughter once or twice a year? In spite of game laws setting a limit to individual spoils, the laws are not stringently enforced and never can be. It is a matter depending almost entirely on the discretion of the individual.

American game hunters should be willing to sacrifice the thrill of making a record kill for the sake of continued enjoyment. If it is marksmanship that thrills them, let them do some of their shooting at a shooting gallery. If it is blood that they want, let them curb their appetite for the sake of others who maybe want the same thrill.

Ancient Treasures, New Methods

When we think of the search for the relics of ancient civilization, we invariably have a mental picture of long rows of burthened Arabs shoveling and screening the dust of the desert. The attempt to recover the ancient galley of the Roman emperor, Caligula, sunk for 2,000 years in Lake Nemi not far from Rome, however, takes on many of the aspects of modern engineering. Instead of digging away the debris of centuries, powerful electric pumps set in motion by Mussolini are slowly emptying the lake and exposing the long-sought pleasure craft of ancient Rome's most profligate ruler.

It was about 37 A. D. when Caligula, having engaged in every conceivable excess, decided to build a magnificent floating palace like those of eastern potentates with which he might while away his idle hours amid the cool breezes of the Aibian hills while Rome sweltered. Since an emperor's whim had a way of becoming a reality, it was not long until the "Thalamegus," most gorgeous of ancient ships, was floating on the limpid waters of Lake Nemi, ready for the entertainment which only a dissolute ruler could command.

What the receding waters will disclose only time will tell. If we may judge from the descriptions of other similar craft, the traditions which have come down through the centuries and the fragments which have been fished out, we shall indeed expect more than enough to justify the great expenditures which have been made. If the ship was sunk accidentally, as is supposed, we may look for exquisite marbles and bronzes, perhaps a collection which will eclipse all that we now have of Roman art. In any event, we may expect a look at a Caesar's palace, one that vandals could not despoil.

Only one other project of a similar nature can compare with this one in the importance of the information which it can furnish and that is the uncovering of Herculaneum, a city buried at the same time as Pompeii. It is worthy of note that this work too was made possible by Mussolini. Whatever we may think of the man, we must give him credit for manifold interests. The grandeur that was Rome he would have the world know no less than the importance of his own Italy.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—Applications for admission to the Citizens Military Training camps for 1929 passed the 100 per cent of possible enrollment figure on April 29 this year, two months in advance of the opening of the first camp. While this does not put a stop to applications, since not nearly all applicants are accepted, it does demonstrate an interest in the work of these camps which is highly encouraging to the department of war. It is a forecast that every training camp will not only have its full quota of citizen trainees, but that there will be sufficient applicants to allow a careful selection of men for this free government camp and training privilege.

Just as much effort to stir up interest in the camps will go on between now and camp time as has been put forth in other years, but the early response, considerably greater than in 1928, indicates that the country is thoroughly sold on the Citizens Military Training camp plan, and that probably the next problem will be to secure authority and funds to hold more camps for more men in 1929. With that thought in mind, the officers in charge of the camp program will be glad if the application list becomes double the possible acceptance. Some men will be disappointed, but the possibility of training all applicants in future years will be greater.

The fifty-one camps to be held this year will provide for 37,500 citizen trainees. Application on April 29 totaled 37,518. The department of War had accepted only 20,676 of these applications, and anticipated at least a total of 50,000 applications from which the 37,500 will be chosen for the camps.

It is therefore not too late to apply for the camps, with reasonable prospect of acceptance. Men from 17 to 31 years of age are eligible, and the requirements are simply a desire on the part of the applicant to enjoy a month in camp at government expense. No obligation to future military service is involved.

The military purposes of the camps is to instruct men in the elements of military pursuits, with a view to having a large reserve power of men in the nation at all times who have the basic knowledge suitable to making officers and non-commissioned officers in case of war. In two of the nine corps areas of the army the applications for this years camps have already reached the full quota expected, and are still coming in. This quota means not the number to be trained, but the number from which selection was expected to be made. These are the second corps area of New York, New Jersey, and Delaware and the fourth corps area of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana. The last named state was the first to have its full quota of applicants. Camps in this area of southern states are the first to be held, opening June 13 at Camp McClellan, Alabama; Ft. Barrancas, Florida; Ft. Bragg, North Carolina; Ft. Moultrie, South Carolina; and Forts Oglethorpe and Screven, Georgia.

The camp at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, opens June 14, those at Forts Lewis and Wright, Washington, a few days later, and others on later dates in July and early August. All last for one month. The military instruction is in a basic course of soldiering, with instruction at different camps in the various branches of the military service. At thirty-six camps there will be infantry courses. Field artillery instruction will be given at twelve camps, cavalry courses at nine, coast artillery at six, and signal corps instruction at four.

Cavalry instruction will be available in every Corps Area except the second, and cavalry trainees from that area will be accepted in limited number in camps in the First and Third Areas, at Ft. Ethan Allen, Vermont, and Fort Myer, Virginia. Other centers for cavalry training will be Ft. Oglethorpe, Georgia; Camp Knox, Kentucky; Ft. Sheridan, Illinois; Ft. Des Moines, Iowa; Ft. Bliss, Texas; and the Presidio of Monterey, California. Signal corps courses will be held at Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey; Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indiana; and Forts Bliss and Sam Houston, Texas.

Aside from the fun of camp life and the general benefits derived from the free government camps, military experts calculate that the free instruction courses at the C. M. T. Cs. would cost about $150 per man for tuition at private military schools. It does not cost the army that much, directly for instruction, although the whole cost of the C. M. T. C. program is considerable, and congress has necessarily kept a limit on the number of men who may be trained annually. The department of war authorities who are interested in the growth of these camps are in hope that the increasing volume of applications will tend to persuade congress to allow more and larger camps in future years.

Q. Is it possible to observe the sun drawing water?
 M. R.

A. The weather bureau says that the sun does not pull water vapor toward itself. Water is just evaporated by heat and thus made a portion of the air. In speaking of the sun drawing water, you probably refer to the common phenomenon of seeing rays of light from the sun to the earth, which is merely due to dust particles floating in the air, being made visible when the sun shines between clouds.

Q. What is the name of the oldest existing newspaper?
 R. E. K.

A. Ti Chan or the Peking Gazette, the first printed newspaper, is probably the oldest daily in the world. It was first issued in 1340 A. D., and is still an official journal. At present it is a pamphlet of 20-40 pages of coarse paper, printed on one side only, having a colored paper cover.

Q. Name some of Warner Baxter's pictures before his success in Old Arizona.
 W. S. W.

A. Craig's Wife, The Great Gatsby, Ramona, Aloma of the South Seas. He has been in the movies for seven years and on the stage, ten years.

Q. Which presidents died inside the White House?
 G. M.

A. While other presidents have died in office, William Henry Harrison is the only one whose death occurred within the White House.

Q. Where is most of the tobacco known as Virginia Bright grown?
 S. B.

A. Nine-tenths of the tobacco known in the markets of the world as Virginia Bright is grown in North Carolina.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Foreign visitors invariably pronounce that turbulent section around Brooklyn Bridge one of the most interesting in the city. There is the old world charm about such a building as the City Hall, the medley of street cries and the panorama of distinct types.

The Bridge is one of the few spots left where newscasters shout editions with a lusty-lunged vigor. Shawled old women with baskets of pretzels spiked on sticks as well as the black aproned Apple Marys making the rounds of the skyscrapers with their fruit carry on.

Lining the sidewalks are rows of high chairs where those bootblacks suggesting the up-from-nowhere Ragged Dick heroes perform their effulgent miracles. A street faker or a soap box pulpitist like sombre clouds of grave wisdom can collect a crowd in a jiffy by the mere wave of an arm.

Even the crossing cops suggest round flatters of the old days instead of the collegiate types uptown. There are peanut vendors, hot chestnut kettles, tamale peddlers, map sellers as well as those salesmen of the dancing toys that leap to hidden threads.

The benches scattered around the park are dotted with the seedy drifters who have seeped down from the Bowery. Now and then a loaded yapping stops for the megalomaniac to point quickly to an imaginary Mayor Walker or Police Commissioner Whalen.

In some of the cobbler-stoned streets near the Bridge are those dingy sour-smelling havens which suggest the cut throat dives once featured in the melodramatic thrillers "Brooklyn Bridge After Dark." One may even see those venerable and cackling hags hobnobbing about.

There is also the delightful rumble from under the Bridge—the street cars, trucks, subway, street yells and various other cacophony echoing from beneath the overhead structure. While the rest of the island's lower tip is silent after dusk, there is always a busy boil around the Bridge.

Broadway antiquarians like to recall spenders of yesterday. There was the fancy westkited Mannie Chappelle, the wine agent, reputed scattering $100 a night brightening up life in the cafes. Today there are no outstanding spenders but wastrels spend more in a night than old timers spent in a week. A thousand-dollar check does not excite a night club much these days and a hundred-dollar note is often slipped to a head waiter. Proficiency is too common to startle the street. The so-called millionaire kids who used to burn up the town and win double page spreads in Sunday papers now a rate a line in the tabloids. Another Death Valley-Scotty spending $1,000 a day would incite only a reportorial yawn.

And most of us recall when $50,000 a year salaries made the recipients objects of whispers and nudges when they passed by. Yet today a rating agency declares there are 14 families on Park Avenue whose living expenses are $50,000 a month—not a year—each.

In my neck of the woods a man who had a sick cow, a sour well and a settin' of chickens was considered rich. And a fellow who didn't have to steal a ride on a train was regarded as well to do.

One of the literary lionets who showers epigrams at afternoon teas was jockeyed into a corner by a gushing young lady admirer who insisted he autograph a copy of his book she brought along with something very personal. "Something," she cooed, "that will make people think I have known you for a long time." He wrote: "How beautiful has been our 40 years of friendship!"

There is danger in prowling about a theater between the matinee and evening performance. Two other newspapermen and myself were hunting for the house manager at such an interval. One of my companions threw open a door to what he thought was the manager's back stage office. It was instead the chorus girls' dressing room and a strip poker game had been in progress evidently for some time. One of my fellows took the first door to the right to the fire escape, the other took the stairs three steps at a time and I'm taking the veil on Tuesday.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

It has been said that we are "far-fully and wonderfully made." It is indeed true; if we were to study the brain and nervous system alone, we would find more remarkable things than the radio and all other amazing inventions and discoveries of modern times.

Between the brain and the spinal cord is a portion of the nervous system known as the "medulla oblongata," or brain-stem. Without discussing other functions, one thing this region does is to regulate the nerves controlling the muscular coats of the blood vessels.

Let me see if I can make clear to you how important the function really is. You need not be a scientist to know that if it is to do its work, the stomach must have more blood when it is full of food than it requires when empty. How is it to get that blood? The nerve center in the medulla sends a message to the muscular coats of the blood vessels in the stomach lining. This message is an order is it to get that blood?

It is important to govern our living in such a way as to have the nervous system well nourished and normal in function. Then every organ of the body will be supplied with exactly the qualities of blood needed for its immediate purposes.

But this system of regulating the blood supply may be put out of order by abuse. For instance, the stomach may become congested and even seriously inflamed by reason of bad eating habits. When the blood vessels are habitually enlarged the normal regulation fails.

It is rather pleasing, I think, to meet a young woman who has a ready blush. We are so well controlled these days that a face is rarely mantled with the flush of self-consciousness. But it is a fact that many a face is constantly congested, too, many times from the abuse of the digestive organs. Chronic drinkers or alcoholics are likely to give evidence of their bad habits by having their noses painted bright red by nature.

You must not think, however, that a congested nose is sure evidence of alcoholic indulgence. As a matter of fact, many a pious man with none of the weaknesses commonly frowned upon may be thus afflicted. But the trouble is that there are many persons who abuse their stomachs by eating too much, or eating too much of the wrong things. This practice may disorder the face just as alcohol does.

When the blood vessels of the middle zone of the face are constantly filled, you can see that the regulation which should be under the control of the medulla is entirely lost. This is another example of what our mistakes do to overturn the normal functions of the nervous system.

Of course, it makes little difference whether you can blush or not, but if the loss of this power is due to abuse of the digestion, it is a real pity. We should lead such lives that the delicately regulated nervous system may be permitted to function normally. If it does, it is an evidence of perfect health.

A New Era In Party Government.

What may prove to be a new chapter in the history of the American political system was begun by President Hoover last week when he brought federal judicial appointments into the open. In transmitting a group of judicial nominations to the senate, the president announced the names of the senators and representatives who had recommended the appointments. It was made known at the same time that this policy would continue, as far as judicial appointments were concerned, and might be extended to other classes of federal jobs. This constitutes a frank recognition of the patronage system as it now exists, in the hope of remedying its shortcomings by turning the spotlight of publicity on its workings.

Naturally this scheme does not meet with the hearty approval of political leaders who gain most by the patronage system. They can, as always has been the case, work better in the dark. But the recent scandals in New York bankruptcy cases showed all too plainly that many men of low caliber were getting into high federal positions, simply through partisan preference. The present policy is well calculated to eliminate much of this evil by placing responsibility for such poor appointments squarely on the men who really determine the choices made formally by the president.

There is no good reason why this policy of open responsibility for federal patronage should not be continued, and perhaps extended to all categories of positions where political leaders have the determining voice. No president possibly could give his personal considerations to all the thousands of important appointments that he must make, and so it is only fair that those who advise him should face the responsibility entailed by the patronage privilege.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Keep Within Your Income.
 You are probably trying to keep up with your neighbors or friends in whatever they are doing, whether they can afford to do it or not.

They may be putting up with good a bluff as you are, for you know that you cannot figure how to meet expenses and pay debts with your income.

And what do you get out of it? Salve for your pride and endless worry is about all there is to it. You would get something worth while if you used your good judgment and kept within your income.

You might have peace and less nervous indigestion, anyway. Most domestic troubles are brought about by the money question. Extravagance makes family disturbance.

Quarrels grow more numerous and serious. Constant recriminations and family unhappiness just for the sake of keeping up appearances—for what?

Would the ones you are trying to follow lift a finger to keep you out of jail if the sheriff or your creditors tried to shut you up?

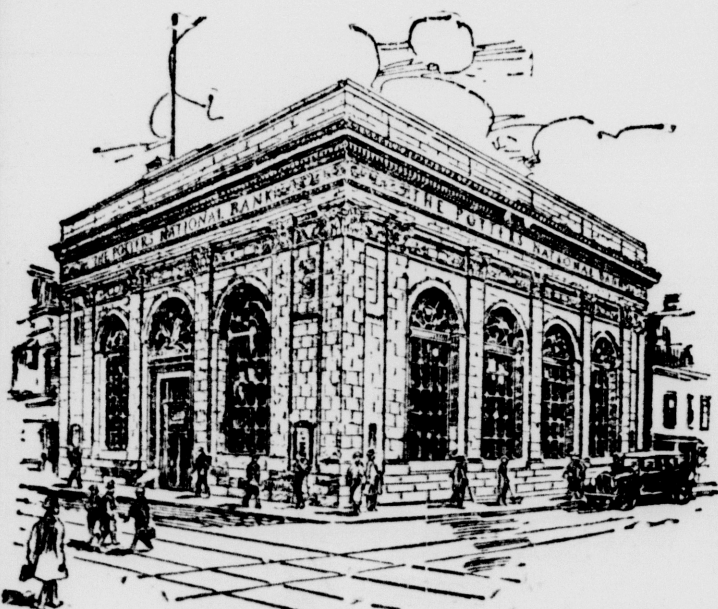

Certainly not, and they would laugh—so foolish it would seem to them that you had gotten into trouble by spending more money than you had rightfully.

WITTY DIALOGUE IN "GHOST TALKS"

Fox Films has produced many exceptional photoplays, but never one that combines so many essentials of entertainment as the all-talking Fox Movietone feature length farce comedy, "The Ghost Talks," which opened at the American theater yesterday.

A demonstrative audience at the first showing proved this definitely. The word "audience" is not used carelessly, for "The Ghost Talks" chiefly is ear appeal.

The story has not a serious moment to offer. The witty, sparkling dialogue, blustering hotel keepers, and suave highbinders, together with the unhappy whites and blue songs of a pair of negro honeymooners, who are no less witty, evokes a response unmistakably uproarious.

There's production skill evidenced in this picture, too. The weird blustering exteriors of the haunted house, for instance, are masterpieces of their kind.

The members of the unusually large cast were selected for their vocal abilities as well as their stage presence. Charles Eaton and Helen Twelvetrees (with the delightful lisp) head the cast. They were induced to desert the New York stage for this special assignment. Others include Earle Foxe, Carmel Myers, Joe Brown, Henry Sedley, Clifford Dempsey, Stepin Fetchit (Negro), Baby Mack (Negro), Arnold Lucy, Bess Flowers, Dorothy McGowan and Mickey Bennett.

LUPE VELEZ WINS IN "WOLF SONG"

Flaming love is bound to result when burly mountaineers come down from their wilderness and enter the town on the plain below. That is what happens in "Wolf Song," a romantic picture of the old Southwest in 1840, which opened at the Ceramic theater yesterday for a run of three days.

This splendid story from the novel of the same name by Harvey Ferguson, is a gorgeous portrayal of the lives and loves of big outdoorsmen and large-eyed señoritas in the days when a beaver-pelt was the peoples' currency.

Lupe Velez, vivacious, exotic, and a spit-fire all in one, plays the leading feminine role as a daughter of the Mexican Dons. She is wooed and won by Gary Cooper, a rangy Kentuckian who has come to seek adventure in the Southwest territory. But the story doesn't end with the wedding and there are numerous thrills before the final scene which brings the romantic pair together again. Wolheim and Romanoff as two trappers of the mountains give excellent support, and others of the cast acquit themselves in an equally adequate fashion.

No effort was spared by Director Fleming to get the fullest values from the natural beauty of his location, the high Sierras of California. The gorgeous vistas of this mountain country are a welcome adjunct to a film which will not fail to appease the eye of the most indifferent movie fan.

WILLIAM BOYD SCORES AT STATE

Magnificent sets—replicas in many cases of the historic halls in which the Third Napoleon trod—the full ecstasy of the decadent court of France with its gaily costumed dames in their hooped finery, marbled halls of splendor and the Parisian dives—all these are part of D. W. Griffith's "Lady of the Pavements," now at the State theater.

For sheer beauty and spectacular display, lavishness of production and that elusive, indefinable quality best known as color, Griffith has set himself a standard of pictorial charm that even the massive aestheticism of "Intolerance," of the inspiration of "The Birth of a Nation" does not surpass.

Within this environment of beauty, Griffith weaves one of the most daring stories of his 29 years of effort in pictures. The picture unfolds the intrigues of a mistress of Napoleon who, thwarted in her selfish love for an officer of the Prussian legation, succeeds in marrying him off to a girl of the streets for the express purpose of debasing him.

Difficult though this subject is, the director has achieved a highly entertaining continuity of dramatic events which the excellent acting of William Boyd, Jetta Goudal, Lupe Velez, George Fawcett, Albert Conti, William Bakewell and Henry Armetta augment to a considerable extent.

IT IS APPLE BLOSSOM TIME IN ARROYO, W. VA.

Normandy Has Nothing On Spectacle West Of Newell.

TREES BUDDING

Little Damage Done to Orchards by Frost.

NEWELL, W. Va., May 7.—"Apple blossom time in Normandy," even at the apex of that appealing period of the year, can not, by the greatest stretch of the imagination, surpass the spectacle today in the Arroyo fruit district, west of Newell.

The beauty of the budding, now at its height, is so arresting that the Arroyo zone is the mecca for scores of motorists every day.

Everywhere within the vision of the eye a green firmament looms, accentuating the variegated colorings of the blossoms that deluge the trees and spot the terrain under them. And from it all exudes an aroma that appeals.

Held by the panorama thus presented one is further enthralled by the information vouchsafed by those living amidst this charming woodland that the 1929 prospect for fruit has been in no wise harmed by the spasmodic visitations of recent frosts.

Some Damage To Buds.
"There has been some damage to the buds, this fact does not mean there will not be a later crop of fine apples," declared Bennett Porter, who for the last 20 years has directed the large orchards just across the river from the Jefferson County Children's Home on which his uncle, the Mahan brothers, planted a majority of the trees.

"There have been times when cold weather has seemingly put an end to all the prospects of fruit in a given year when later a surprising crop has been procured," he said. "There have been occasions also when during June the apples, after reaching the sizes of marbles, have succumbed to a blight and dropped in quantities to the ground. Even then have often followed good-sized productions from the trees."

For the most part the "Willow" variety of apple is the most grown in the various orchards. In the past there were a good many of the Ben Davis apples grown, but these have been for the most part done away with. The "Willow" has proved to be a fine apple for long preservation. Just now the last apples in storage are being marketed.

Some of these apples even as recently as last year were shipped to France and Germany.

Fog and Smoke Affect Marketing.
In recent years a handicap to the handicap to the marketing of the apples has been the prevalence of fog and smoke in that particular section of the Ohio Valley. "From these causes the apples hereabouts fail to take on the attractive colorings that mark those grown on inland territory," Porter explained. "Indeed, at times the fruit becomes somewhat encrusted by the prevailing mark."

Confirmation of this condition may be had from rivermen who contend that one of the most foggy sections along the Ohio river between Pitsburgh, Pa., and Parkersburg, W. Va., is encountered just along a pocket made in the bend in the Arroyo zone. Smoke from New Cumberland, W. Va., and from places in both directions follow the river and envelop the trees on either side of it. "There are many days here in which the trees are too damp to permit apple-picking until the afternoon," declared Porter.

Notwithstanding these somewhat unfavorable conditions the apple industry of the section has been, on the whole, good. There used to be much less competition before the more modern methods of preserving fruit in storage and during shipping were developed. "That the oldest trees in the region are aged about 75 years was disclosed by Porter. "And many of them are bearing as well now as when they initially began to fruit," he said. "Their longevity has been all that could be expected."

Trees at intervals throughout the years have been planted. Some even now are being put into the ground. Usually several years transpire ere they reach a maximum of producing strength.

Huge Storage House on Farm.
One of the outstanding sights of the locality as well as that beheld along the river anywhere is the huge storage house of thick stone walls on the Porter place which is really three stories in height, counting the basement. It has a capacity of 20,000 barrels.

Built of sandstones which had been fashioned from rock procured in adjacent quarries, it was erected in 1878 by two brothers named Hillings, of Philadelphia, who in their day were successful eastern storage personages. The Mahan brothers sold them a plot of ground on which it was built. In that early day, stonemasons worked for $1.25 a day and a team of horses and driver furnished for $2.50 for the same interim. The total cost of the structure was $25,000. Now, it would probably cost more than $100,000.

Massive timbers used within it for buttressing the upper floors and for joists were procured from forests in close proximity to it, all being cut in to the needed sizes in sawmills on the farm. For many years the top floor was utilized as an ice-house into which squared cakes were dragged from the river in the winter months. Later this has been discontinued for air currents which maintain the needed low temperature desired.

Railway switches along the river make possible rail as well as water shipments when desired.

Peaches likewise thrive in this apple district, but are also discolored somewhat by the fog and smoke prevailing in the valley.

New SOHIO MOTOR OIL free from harmful wax

New de-waxing process gives 100% paraffin base oil extra qualities

100% pure Paraffin base oils are acknowledged to be the world's finest lubricants. Such an oil is New Sohio Motor Oil. And now comes a new, spectacular process that gives extra qualities to even this fine oil by making it free from harmful wax!

Being all lubricant, New Sohio Motor Oil affords greater protection against friction. Excess wax in motor oil has no value as a lubricant, and its presence materially impairs lubricating efficiency. Complete removal of this harmful wax insures cooler, smoother operation, even under the most strenuous driving conditions.

Another thing: because New Sohio Motor Oil is free from harmful wax, it forms an oilier, more even lubricating film between piston ring and cylinder wall. Unburned gasoline from the combustion chamber has a hard time seeping through this piston seal. The tough, strong texture of New Sohio's Paraffin base makes it peculiarly immune to crankcase dilution. And because New Sohio is pure oil, its use in your car will insure a minimum of carbon formation.

Try it in your own car and watch your thermometer and your speedometer for convincing proof of New Sohio Motor Oil's superiority. For sale at all Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and by hundreds of dealers everywhere in Ohio.

ADVANCED NEW PROCESS
REMOVES WAX
AT 40° BELOW ZERO

Excess wax in motor oil causes trouble. Most manufacturers of good oils now de-wax by centrifugal action, employing the widely known principle of the farm cream separator. But the method used in the manufacture of Sohio Motor Oil performs this vital operation at the extreme temperature of 40° below zero, producing oil free from harmful wax. The results:

- 1 Little or no carbon.
- 2 Flexible viscosity—perfect motor lubrication at all temperatures.
- 3 Perfect piston seal—full power and least danger of oil dilution.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews' Original Cut Rate, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. Adv

If You Don't Feel Just Right, Take Mrs. Stoneman's Advice

She's Been Through It All—Nights of Sleeplessness, Days of Stomach Distress and General Depression. But That's All By-Gone Now. She Feels "Fit As a Fiddle" Today, Thanks to This Discovery.

MRS. STONEMAN

Canton, Ohio—Because of her sympathy with people who are suffering with stomach trouble, inability to sleep and general run down condition, Mrs. Stoneman, who has made a remarkable recovery from just such illness, generously gives to the readers of this newspaper the benefit of her experience. She would like to have every man, woman and child who feels at all unwell to know about Owa-Ton-Na, the Famous Indian Herb Discovery, so that it will make them better, too. This is what Mrs. Stoneman, who lives at 822 6th st. NE, this city, has to say:

"I was in pretty bad shape for a long time. My whole system was upset and when a person is in her late sixties it is very difficult to get well. I was constantly constipated and that made me feel very sick and depressed me horribly."

"My stomach was always bloated up with gas. And I always had a bad breath and sourness. I certainly feel sorry for anybody who is afflicted with this condition and I want to tell them just how I got rid of my constipation."

"Sometimes I couldn't sleep very well. Then when I got up in the morning I felt so tired and worn-out, I could hardly do my housework."

"I felt miserable and my friends all wanted to know what the trouble was. One of them asked me why I didn't try to get rid of my sickness. I explained to her that I had taken all the medicines that had been recommended to me, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so discouraged because of this that I thought I would never get better."

"She asked me why I did not try Owa-Ton-Na, which she had read was helping thousands of people all over the country to get better. I took her advice and I was quick to note the improvement."

"It was with the very first bottle that my constipation began to be relieved and the gas was not nearly as bad on my stomach. I kept on eagerly taking Owa-Ton-Na, and soon my constipation was leaving me and I found my appetite restored. I was no longer afraid to eat whatever I liked, because Owa-Ton-Na strengthened my stomach so that I could eat anything without having gas."

"Today I am a well woman, my stomach is fine, my bowels work perfectly. I never know what a headache is and I look well and feel well. I sleep like a little girl. I certainly am thankful to Owa-Ton-Na and with all my heart I want everybody who is going through what I did to know about it."

You, too can get this relief. Now, there is no need for you to suffer another day, is there? Why not call today at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, East Liverpool and have a talk with the laboratory nurse about your own case? This service is free. It may mean the beginning of a new health and happiness for you. Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's Newell, W. Va., and East End Stores.

BERLIN DRAFTS RESERVATIONS ON YOUNG PLAN

Conditions for Acceptance of Reparations Scheme Outlined.

FOUR STIPULATED

"Germany Can Pay But Is Obstinate," Expert Says.

By Robert W. Thompson
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, May 7.—Germany's conditions for acceptance of the Young plan as the basis of a solution of the reparations problem were handed to the allied and American experts today by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and chief of the German delegation.

The reservations stipulate:
1.—Suppression of the recovery act.
2.—Suppression of outside control of German finances under the Dawes plan.
3.—Maintenance of the greater part of the transfer clause for the protection of German currency.
4.—Means to allow Germany to increase her capacity to pay.

The German conditions, which were in written form, were taken under consideration by the other experts.

Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee of experts, was said to have told the allied delegates:
"German can pay, but is obstinate."
"It was reliably reported that the allied experts were 'surprised and chagrined' over the written memorandum of Chairman Young explaining how he had reached the figures contained in his plan. This memorandum was handed in last night for study before the private conversations were renewed today.

The allies, it was said, had presumed that the figures of the Young plan had been based upon an equitable cut in the mixed claims of the allies and the United States, but discovered otherwise.

Sinclair in Jail

Heretofore Dr. Hyman has been mixing his own medicines and compounding his own pills, but for the next 80 days he is going to have a well-equipped assistant.

If there are any operations during this period, Sinclair will act as the doctor's interne.

Assignment Relief for Sinclair.

It was a relief for Sinclair to get assigned to the drug room. For one thing, it took him away from the front office to a somewhat isolated position in the institution, and thus out of the way of sightseers and "slummers."

He had a rather bad night. He didn't sleep much, according to his neighbors. On one side of him was a bookmaker doing a "short stretch" for taking bets on the ponies. On the other side was a chap doing a longer "stretch" for imagining that the property of a perfect stranger belonged to him.

Sinclair didn't wholly undress. He removed his shirt and laid down on his cot with his trousers on. He sat up frequently throughout the night, long light to smoke cigarettes on the edge of the bunk.

He was awake when the first bell rang at 5:45 a. m. At that hour, only 40 miles away at Pimlico, his horses were getting their morning workouts under stableboys that he never heard of.

Breakfast was rather a trial. He was the cynosure of all eyes in the big mess hall. He didn't eat much, just gulped some of the coffee.

After breakfast came the session with Major Peak. Then he was put in charge of his bookmaker neighbor for a short walk around the institution in order to familiarize himself with the place.

Sinclair arose rather early this morning for breakfast—he sat down at 6 a. m. to be exact.

The menu was rather plain, consisting—It was cereal, bologna, bread, coffee and sugar, to be exact.

And, once more to be exact, his table companions didn't quite compare socially with those who breakfasted with him only so late as yesterday morning at the palatial Sinclair estate at Great Neck, Long Island.

The millionaire oil operator and turfman is paying at least a portion of the debt he contracted with society when he acquired a lease to the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve in a manner which the United States supreme court described as highly fraudulent.

Sinclair has started the service of his 90-day sentence for contempt of the senate which arose from his refusal to answer certain pertinent questions relative to his dealings with former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall. Still pending against him, though on appeal, is a six-months' sentence for alleged jury tampering when he went on trial for criminal conspiracy in connection with those dealings.

It was a far different Sinclair who marched into breakfast shortly after dawn this morning at Major Peak's district jail from the jaunty man with the bulldog face and the confident smile who had stood in the criminal branch of the local supreme court and heard a Washington jury acquit him of a far more serious charge. He was nervous and pale this morning and the felons, drunkards and vagrants who shared his mess hall didn't seem to add to his erstwhile assurance.

Prisoner Fingerprinted.

Also, as before indicated, the exceedingly plain, though wholesome menu of the jail breakfast failed to compare at all favorably with that he has been accustomed to.

Cereal and bologna for breakfast, however, was just the start of a humiliating and heart-breaking day for the man who is rated as being worth anywhere from fifty to a hundred million dollars.

TODAY

THIS country did eight to ten billions in foreign trade last year, but Dr. Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, says American business methods lose eight to ten billions each year. Thoughtless promotion, imperfect merchandise distribution, disorderly marketing of perishable goods, high cost of unsystematic warehousing, cause part of this loss.

EACH year $200,000,000 to $500,000,000 could be saved by improved handling methods. Look into the "skid platform" device. Henry Ford suggested the five-day work week, "that workers might have time to spend and enjoy their earnings."

Prosperity, according to Ford, must depend on wise spending of the nine billions a year collected by wage earners.

NEW YORK'S building trade takes the suggestion seriously and 150,000 men by threatening a strike have won the five-day week, with five and a half days' pay.

THE workers, well rested, can if they choose do as much in five days as they have done in six. That's what they should do, in justice to other men.

SENATOR CAPPER, of Kansas, trusted by farmers, backs President Hoover's farm bill. He opposes the debenture subsidy plan, which would pay a bonus to exporting middle men, cost the taxpayers heavily, and do the farmer little, if any good.

RUSSIA attacks farm relief intelligently. Albert Kahn, of Detroit, one of the ablest architects in America, has been engaged to spend $4,000,000 on tractor factories, at the mouth of the Volga river.

MR. KAHN, who builds all of Henry Ford's factories, will have at his disposal all the Ford plans. The factories will produce 40,000 tractors a year, sold at cost, on long credit to farmers.

We'd call that "paternalism" here. But perhaps it's only common sense. We may even learn something from Russia.

OWEN D. YOUNG, able American, is thought to have solved the German reparations problem.

His suggestion, approved by Britain, would let Germany pay annuities for 27 years, instead of 50 years, beginning with $102,000,000 a year, instead of $600,000,000, increasing payments by $6,000,000 a year, for 10 years. It would be better to let Europe settle its own quarrels, this country keeping out of them.

BUT, since we must meddle, we seem to have chosen well, in selecting Mr. Young.

NATURE wants each living thing to reach maturity, and wise men avoid the immature.

Lamb is less nourishing than adult mutton.

Veal not one-tenth as good as beef. Young chickens lack food value.

You know about green apples. Now science tells you that the vitamin A important to life and health, is abundant in ripe red tomatoes, lacking in green tomatoes.

JONES ACT VOTER DENIES RUM LEAK

KEY WEST, Fla., May 7.—(INS).—The trunk customs officials saw leaking on a pier in Jacksonville last year didn't belong to M. Alfred Michaelson, dry Republican congressman from Illinois.

Just before his trial for "alleged importation, transportation and possession of liquor" was to start at 2 p. m. today the voter for the drastic Jones law denied ownership of either the trunk in question or the alleged liquor it contained. He terms the court action against him "political persecution."

It was understood his counsel will demand the indictment against him be quashed. Denial of ownership probably will be their plea.

LOIS MANNING ASKS DIVORCE

DETROIT, May 7.—(INS).—Lois Knowlson Dodge Manning, former wife of Horace E. Dodge, jr., today filed a suit for divorce from her ex-husband, who is now in the army.

Benjamin Franklin Manning, in which she brought an accusation of "non support" in answer to his charge that her money had proved a "curse" to him.

Mrs. Manning also accused Manning of extreme cruelty, charging that he cursed and abused her in front of friends and that once he struck her so that her face became "sore and black and blue."

The Mannings were married September 1, 1927, in Honolulu and lived together only to November 1 of the same year.

GROUNDING LAKE FREIGHTER FREED

ASHTABULA, O., May 7.—(INS).—The freighter D. M. Philbin, grounded off Ashtabula last Tuesday when an airplane beacon was mistaken for a harbor light, was dragged from the shoal shortly before noon today and is en route to Conneaut where the remaining cargo of 1,000 tons of iron ore will be removed.

As soon as the cargo is taken off the Philbin will be towed to drydock for repairs.

It is said the boat is badly damaged. Capt. Neil Baker of the stranded craft was taken to General hospital here yesterday suffering from a serious stomach ailment. During the week 16 other members of the crew were injured, suffering from illness and taken off.

business of being fingerprinted and this forever set down in police records as one who has "done a stretch."

The man who smeared Sinclair's fingerprints and pressed them on the tell-tale card was an embezzler of parts who now holds an important position in the jail.

ROTARY HEARS HOW TO MAKE DOLLARS GROW

Frank J. Raymond, East Orange, N. J. Speaker.

NOON LUNCHEON

Rev. Father John L. Maurer Presides at Meeting.

The business of making dollars through one's personality was discussed by Frank Jewel Raymond, East Orange, N. J., lecturer and adviser on business and personal problems, in an address before 50 members of the Rotary club and their guests at today's luncheon in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A.

Raymond was introduced by the Rev. Father John L. Maurer, pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church. The chorus singing was led by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, who also sang two solos, "Broadway Melody" and "You Were Meant for Me."

Mrs. Danks Cochran was the accompanist. Stanley Hilbert and Robert Boyce were introduced as new members. Lawrence Smith announced plans for an inter-city meeting to be held at Steubenville next Friday night.

Three Steps in Life.

"Man's life is divided into three steps," said Raymond. "The first step of life is that when we are under the influence of our mothers. Then comes the second step, when we start to school. The third step is that when we get our first job and go to work. We then come to the fourth step, the three E's—experience, expression and expansion—where most of us stop. From this step we are drawn to the fifth step—the three P's—perception, power and profit.

Two Kinds of Fires.

"In man's everyday life there are two kinds of fires—constructive fires and destructive fires.

"Many a life is ruined by the feeling of one's lack of education. Others are afraid to express themselves for a fear of ridicule. Another feeling is that for the lack of money. These are destructive fires. Keep the fire of faith, brotherly love and reverence burning if you would be successful."

DETROIT BALLOON STILL MISSING

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS).—The passing hours today brought no word from the Detroit Times balloon, lone remaining unreported entry in the national elimination races, and 54 hours after the bag soared aloft with its crew of two men, race officials here refused to voice the anxiety which has hung over headquarters throughout the morning.

The all-time record set by the navy balloon No. 1 in remaining aloft more than 43 hours cheered officials somewhat, and they said that while there is a remote possibility the Detroit Times could still be aloft—possibly a two-day chance—the most plausible explanation of the balloon crew's silence is that they have landed in the wild stretches of central Maine or the Canadian north woods.

"Eddie will quit when his balloon won't stay up another minute," one attaché said of E. J. Hill, pilot of the craft, who with Arthur G. Schlosser constitutes the crew of the Detroit entry.

NAB BANDIT AS HE OUTFITS SELF

TOLEDO, O., May 7.—(INS).—One of two bandits, who held up the clothing store of David Epstein here today, was captured after he delayed long enough to outfit himself in the store. He was leaving just as the police arrived on the scene. He was captured after a chase of several blocks.

Engineer Scalded to Death.

CLEVELAND, May 7.—(INS).—Funeral services were being arranged today for Jap Keep, Nickel Plate railroad engineer, who was scalded to death by steam as the result of an accident in the Nickel Plate railroad yards last night. Keep's locomotive was struck by a string of empty freight cars and the engineer was trapped in the wreckage of his car. He was killed by the scalding of steam enveloped and fatally scalded him. The fireman jumped to safety.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

BY W. S. COUSINS,
I. N. S. Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Industrial stocks dropped off to lower prices this morning when a new wave of speculative selling, left over from Monday's closing reaction, flowed in over the market. Reports that the reserve board was "putting the screws on the money market" held back the timid speculators who otherwise might have been tempted to try their hand at the speculative wheel, and the usual rumors about a higher rediscount rate at the reserve bank here gained momentum as the renewal call loan rate was marked up to 14 per cent.

The bears tested out the situation in the first period by throwing in a good volume of selling orders for Radio, Rumley, Aircraft and other overexploited industrials and specialties. Rumley common lost 5 points and the preferred 6 points as the bulls in the stock backed away from these new offerings. Radio's quarterly statement showing earnings of only 21 cents a share in the first three months of 1929, against $2.40 in the same period last year was a good talking point for the bears, though there are five times as many shares outstanding.

Under the influence of 14 per cent money the best of the industrials, which have been moving skyward in the last week of two fell back to the lower ranges. American Can at 146 was down 4 points from Monday's peak and losses of 1 to 5 points were recorded in other speculative leaders. Total sales in the first half hour were only 380,000 shares, which was well below the average of the last two weeks.

National Authority Will Direct Orth's Advertising

J. E. Plant, Well Known Advertising and Merchandising Expert Sees Big Possibilities in Stomach Remedy.

Local townspeople apparently don't realize that in this city of E. Liverpool, is a product that should be destined to become a big seller in drug stores throughout this nation. The possibilities of this remedy have attracted the attention of J. E. Plant, a man whose ideas and experience have guided to success some of the best known and largest selling items on the druggists' shelves. Mr. Plant first heard of Dr. Orth's stomach remedy four or five years ago through friends, chronic sufferers, who had tried all other preparations and found nothing to equal Dr. Orth's remedy. He then started investigating making a complete research among drug stores in several cities, and the more he investigated the more enthused he became. J. E. Plant was retained for many years by an Advertising Agency directing the advertising of such well known products as Marmola, Laxative Bromo Quinine, Tonsillene, Dr. Bell's Pine Tar sales and advertising of one of the fastest selling dry cleaners on the market. He also directs the Advertising of Caustic Balsam and Piso's as well as many other well-known drug store products.

One of his biggest successes started on an $8.00 ad and in two years they were spending $150,000 a year all out of profits.

It is the plan to reorganize the company and give present stockholders a chance to remain with it, while new investors for a short time only will be given the opportunity to buy some of the new stock.

Prominent Cleveland people who have made investments in big dividend paying proprietary remedies are anxious to invest in this reorganization and the remaining unsubscribed stock will be sold in the northern metropolis where Musterole, Pompeian, Watkins Multifid Coconut Oil and other familiar drug store products were formerly

Council Will Define Fire Chief's Duties

Ordinance to be Presented to Lawmakers Tonight; Charles Hanlon Fills Post Formerly Held by A. W. Phillips.

WELLSVILLE, O., May 7.—City council tonight will take steps to define the duties of the chief of the fire department and fix his salary in the event that proposed legislation is enacted.

With the return of Mayor Wallace L. Fogo to office, Charles Hanlon, the chief executive's appointee to the vacancy, created by the resignation of A. W. Phillips, became chief of the fire department.

In all probability, the legislation will boost the salary of the fire chief and, at the same time, give him additional duties.

It is understood the proposed ordinance specifies that the fire chief supervise the operation of the alarm system and maintain its wires and the mechanical equipment at the fire station.

Duties attached to the job were outlined at a recent conference of members of the ordinance committee and City Solicitor Raymond Knepper.

Ordinance regulating the collection of garbage and a resolution of necessity for the improvement of Michael alley will probably make their appearance tonight, too.

PICTURE PATTERN

SO SMART! AND SO WEARABLE!

THE STYLE No. 3317 is in new coat effect simulating two-piece mode, with "tuck-in" blouse effect, that is especially popular with the younger set. It will delight you with its simplicity, and youthful plaits across front of skirt. It chooses a navy blue novelty woolen fabric with matching shade, faille silk crepe used for shawl collar, vest with Vionnet neckline and belt. Natural colored feather weight kasha with black faille crepe is ultra-smart. Bright red sheer tulle in check pattern with fabric cut on bias for trimming contrast, printed silk crepe with plain or wool crepe in chartreuse green is interesting selection.

THE PATTERN is particularly easy to use because it shows every step in the making in pictures to help you save time in cutting it out and obtaining a perfect fit. It is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

East Liverpool Man Now Able to Work! Thanks "Orange Root"

Mr. E. R. Long Was So Weak and Exhausted Was Confined to Bed—Stomach So Affected Was Unable to Eat—Was Fast Failing Till "ORANGE ROOT" Came to the Rescue—Up and About, Back to Work, and Feeling Fine Now Says.

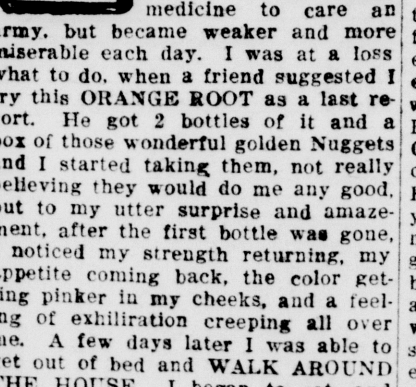

Mr. E. R. Long of Route No. 2, East Liverpool, Ohio, voluntarily sends in this happy report out of true appreciation for the great good "ORANGE ROOT" did him. Mr. Long is a carpenter by trade, and is highly respected and esteemed by all who know him. Bedfast, and just about all in, he took a course of ORANGE ROOT Iron & Celery Compound, and here is what he says: "For several years

I have been a sufferer of stomach trouble. I took a terrible cold some time ago, and this combined with my constant stomach misery put me in bed for 8 long weeks. My strength left me entirely, and I could not even raise myself up in bed. I suffered untold misery with my stomach, and was fast fading away, as I could not eat a thing unless it was in liquid form. I took enough medicine to care an army, but became weaker and more miserable each day. I was at a loss what to do, when a friend suggested I try this ORANGE ROOT as a last resort. He got 2 bottles of it, and a box of those wonderful golden Nuggets and I started taking them, not really believing they would do me any good, but to my utter surprise and amazement, after the first bottle was gone, I noticed my strength returning, my appetite coming back, the color getting pinker in my cheeks, and a feeling of exhilaration creeping all over me. A few days later I was able to get out of bed and WALK AROUND THE HOUSE. I began to eat, and everything seemed to agree with me. The misery in my stomach vanished like magic, and now that I am well and strong, I have not had a pain or ache since. I am hungry ALL THE TIME. My nerves are steady and calm, and I sleep like a trooper at night, and get up in the mornings feeling peppy as a youngster. I am now going back to work at the carpenter trade, and truthfully give "ORANGE ROOT" all the credit for my miraculous return to HEALTH. The Nuggets are the finest laxative and liver regulator ever used. They act so gently yet so efficiently. I am telling the whole world just how wonderful these Orange Root remedies really are."

Orange Root man is meeting large crowds every day at MATHEWS CURATE MEDICINE STORE here, and you are advised to go there this very minute, talk your case over with him, get a treatment of ORANGE ROOT. box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions, and you too will be greatly surprised at the results. ORANGE ROOT is the greatest discovery of the modern age. The hundreds of thousands of grateful users will test this fact. Get treatment of it today, and you will boost it to morrow. Price, TONIC $1.25, Nuggets 50c. Add 10c extra for parcel post charges if you live out of town and your local druggist cannot supply you. Maranville, 17 Years In Majors, "Comes Back" As Boston Star

Lu Blue, Sam Gray Reviving

And Just Watch Andy High, Marty M'Manus And Others.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The chump who said "they never come back" undoubtedly was a smart city fellow and a big help to his dependent nephews but the crack he made simply doesn't go today, unless he was talking about shirts from the laundry. In any case, by no stretching of the most elastic imagination could he have been referring to Mr. Maranville, the venerable rabbit, who is doing a job of shortstopping for the Boston Braves in a manner most seemly. Mand and boy, that lad has been in and out of the National League for seventeen seasons and no doubt the strain is beginning to tell on him. Almost any day now he is liable to break right down and make an error.

He finished his twelfth game yesterday without the semblance of mischance, which means that he hasn't kicked one away since the 1928 season ended. A young fellow like that ought to be encouraged; he's kind of promising.

That, as a matter of fact, was Maranville's trouble in the old, swash-buckling days. He was always promising somebody, mostly his manager. The best shortstop in the league at the time, he was permitted to escape from Boston and Pittsburgh. The Chicago Cubs then took up the white man's burden and even went so far as to name the rabbit manager of the club. He should have been good, at that. He had had a lot of experience trying to manage himself.

Go to Brooklyn
WE WILL pass quickly and humanely to the next scene which was laid in Brooklyn. The rabbit tried to get by there and was through in a couple of years. Usually when you are through in Brooklyn, life is just beginning for you in Council Bluffs. Anyhow, nobody ever expected to see Maranville in the major league again, including the gentleman himself. But the moral is that he turned to uplift and the finer things of life in Rochester and won his way to fame and fortune.

He came back with the Cardinals last year, helped to hustle them into the pennant and now is putting life into the surprising Braves, in whom all things animate were presumed to have been extinct. He is going after everything and the records say that he has got what he wanted. And outside of the fact that he is hitting around .339 the poor, old fellow doesn't seem to be able to do himself much good.

They never come back? It would be just too bad for the St. Louis Browns if they had to abide by a decision like that. Sam Gray, for example, either has come back or he is deceiving an awful lot of people. As I understand it, the Athletics made the Gray trade a couple of years ago mostly to get a man who was satisfied or to satisfy the man they got. Anyhow, the deal gave Bing Miller, who was selling automobiles in Philadelphia during the off season, a chance to be near his work or something. And what of Lu Blue?

Shipped to Browns
MORIARTY tried in the worst way to find his successor in Detroit. Even going so far as to play a couple of guys by the name of Neun and Sweeney at the position. As I say, he tried in the worst way. Finally he just got sick and tired of it and traded Blue to the Browns, where he hit like a fool last year. All he has done so far is to hit over .400 this season, clobber a boy of home runs and drive in runs by consignments. I'd venture to say that he's back.

So is Andy High, who was bowled

WHAT WOULD THEY DO WITHOUT HIM?

Right at the top of the old batting order of the Cleveland Indians is an old familiar name, Charles Jamieson. The veteran outfielder is rewarding the owners for their faith in him.

Up until the time he was moved to the head of the list Jamieson was used to averaging one hit every game. His first day as leadoff man saw him go without a hit. Peck moved him further down the list and then back up again. Before he moved Jamie, he asked him if he would consent to going back to the leadoff job. Jamie is a game scout and took the job. Now the runs are coming across in pretty good style.

Now the fans want to pay him a little compliment in the shape of a gift and a Jamieson day. The club owners have agreed to it and what's more have contributed $500 to the fund.

NOW that the American league has decided to abolish the awarding of a most valuable player prize at the end of each season, our noble athletes will not know when . . .

To ask for more dough.

It's a shame and the United, Amalgamated, Subdivided Association of Baseballers feels there ought to be something done about it because they won't know now when they're valuable and it's tough, you know, just walking up to the head meal ticket and saying, "How about a little raise, Mack, say a couple or three thousand." The old Boils-Roast needs a couple of new tires and I've got to take the wife and kiddies out once in a while. I won 20 some games last year for dear old alma mater, or at least I should have; I can't remember figures very well, you know, those kind, anyway, but that little brun . . . but what I wanted to tell you was that I led the league in home runs, three base hits, errors and shower baths last year, you know. Whadya say to two or three grand, or maybe four?"

"But, my dear boy," replies the head man paternally, "you haven't been declared most valuable . . . and anyway I don't know who Alma is."

Be that as it may, it appears that Mickey Cochrane, catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, is the last of the valuable players. Others who have received the award include Ty Cobb, George Sisler, Eddie Collins, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Walter Johnson, Roger Peckinpaugh, George Burns and Tris Speaker.

Columbus Wins From Saints After Dropping Five In Row

out of Boston and Brooklyn, gently but very firmly and now is hitting over .450 for the Cardinals. So is Horace Ford who once was one of six men traded to the American Association for Johnny Butler. Butler now is no more but Ford and Critz have the major league record for double plays and are well started on another rampage. I wouldn't say that George Uhle had failed to come back with the Tigers after looking at his 1,000 record with the Tigers, nor that Marty McManus, with his batting average of close to .400, could possibly be the same man they were going to air very thoroughly not so long ago.

These are only a few meritorious cases, at that. There are so many more that I'm inclined to think that maybe the chump was right and didn't know it. They don't have to come back because mostly they never actually have been away.

PLAYER AWARD IS DISCONTINUED

CLEVELAND, May 7.—The practice of naming a "most valuable player" in the American league at the close of each season will be discontinued this year, it was announced today, following a meeting of the league's club owners here yesterday. The action of Mickey Cochrane, Toledo Takes One on Chin From Millers and Slip to Seventh Place in Association.

AFTER losing five games in a row, Nemo Liebold's Columbus Senators stepped across the river from Minneapolis yesterday and gave the Saints of St. Paul a 6-to-3 lacing. Mr. St. Johnson, the youthful right-hander seeing service for the first time in a Senate uniform, was given credit for the victory, and was supported nobly by the Senatorial outfield. The Bucks still remain in the fifth place position, only half a game behind the Saints. If Nemo and his boys win today's encounter, Columbus and St. Paul will trade positions and the Senators will then be a first division team.

Ohio's other entry in the American Association baseball race, Toledo, playing across the river from the scene of the Columbus-St. Paul tilt, in the first game of the series with the Minneapolis millers, went down to another defeat, 5-2. Minneapolis, only one game behind the league-leading Kansas City Blues, is expected to take today's game. The Mud-Hens have slipped down to seventh, and unless they show something they have failed to produce so far this season, Toledo's entry will be giving Milwaukee a race for the cellar position. The other two American Association games scheduled for yesterday were called off. Indianapolis, playing the Brewers at Milwaukee, were idle because of rain, and the game between Louisville Colonels and the Blues, at Kansas City, was postponed because of wet grounds.

catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, who won the award last year, is said to have been chiefly responsible for the decision to discontinue the award. Cochrane demanded a higher salary this year than last. The club owners contended that the award gave the winner an exaggerated idea of his importance, and promoted jealousy among the players.

Diegel's 70 Gives Him Lead

Yank Pro Sets Pace To-day in Qualifying Round.

By F. A. Wray.
MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 7.—Leo Diegel, the temperamental American professional champion, spread-eagled his field today in the second half of the British open golf championship by shooting a sensational 35-70 to equal par for the course, establish the low round record of the tournament and take the lead for the medal by six full strokes. The par-equaling 70, with Leo's sound 74 in the wind and rain of yesterday, giving him a 36 hole total of 144 and apparently every right to expect that the qualifying medal will be his at the end of the day.

Laughlin Nine Loses Battle At Youngstown

Don Mackall Loses Tough Decision in Tenth, 3-2.

In a game that was featured by the masterly pitching of Don Mackall, local Inter-City League twirler, the Laughlin Nine of Newell lost a 9-inning battle with the East Side Grives of Youngstown Sunday afternoon in the Ohio City.

Mackall, despite the fact that it was his first game of the season, and handicapped by the extremely cold baseball weather, fanned eight of the Grives and allowed five hits, all of which were short singles.

The Laughlins held a 2-0 lead until the ninth when, after Ryan singled, Lesky sent him to third with his single. Two were out and it looked like Newell's first victory over their old rivals. On the next hit ball to Finley, Chappie threw wild to Dugman, the ball going into the stands, resulting in two runs, tying the score. Youngstown showed over the winning tally in the tenth on a base on balls, a sacrifice and a single.

Gregory, Newell high school product, played a bang-up game at third, while Laughlin's new catcher, Pumphrey, caught a steady game. Neither team got a man on base during the first three innings.

Yanks Crash Out Nine Homers To Capture Series With Hose

But Hugmen Will Face Sterner Test Today When They Open Three-game Party With Browns.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Having swept their three-game series with the White Sox by smacking nine home runs, the champion New York Yankees face a sterner test today when they begin a three-game series with the St. Louis Browns. The Brownie pitchers, led by Sam Gray and Alvin Crowder, have shown more effective arms than the Yank hurlers and may check the home run carnival.

While New York and St. Louis are battling for second place, the league-leading Athletics will be playing the White Sox. The scenes also change in the National league, with the faltering Boston Braves defending first place against the fast-traveling Cardinals. The Pirates invade New York and Brooklyn entertains the Cubs.

Ruth and Gehrig hit no homers for the Yankees yesterday but the secondary sluggers, Mousel and Lazzeri, came through with timely four-baggers. Mousel's homer with the bases loaded in the tenth was just enough to give the champs a 7 to 6 edge, as the Sox knocked out Heimach and Moore in their half of the inning and scored three runs before Hoyt stopped them.

Harry Heilmann's two home runs featured Detroit's 8 to 4 win over the Red Sox, who moved back to familiar quarters in the cellar. Washington got out of last place by outslugging Cleveland, 13 to 5, scoring ten runs in the fifth inning.

Sweetonic, American association rookie, pitched the Pirates to a 4 to 3 win over the Braves, each team scoring twice in the ninth. Boston's rally was ruined when Richbourg, pinch runner, slipped and fell in trying to score.

The Giants outslugged the Cardinals, 3 to 1 in a battle of home runs. The only runs scored off Denver Bill Walker and Clarence Mitchell were

Gene 'Chesses' With Writer Near Adriatic

Takes up New Game Far From Madding Throng.

ROME, May 7.—Having met and vanquished all comers in the ring, Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world, is trying his hand at a different game of skill.

He has taken up chess, it was learned here today, and is willing away many an hour worrying over knights and pawns with no less formidable an adversary than George Bernard Shaw.

The ex-champion of fistdom and the great writer are almost constant companions on the island of Brione, a sleepy spot in the Adriatic, where Tunney has repaired with his bride far away from the madding throng.

Shaw, whom Tunney has declared himself as admiring more than any other living celebrity, is also vacationing at Brione, and the pair, messaged from the island today declared, have found it enjoyable to pit their skill against one another over the chessboard.

Shaw is invariably the victor, it appears, although Gene is proving himself a game loser, demanding a return "bout" after each session. He is rapidly improving, and is confident that he will soon be able to hold his own against all comers as he did in his fighting days.
